34 hours Lecture

This course focuses on the needs of the older adults and the disabled/chronically ill older adult in the community, home health, and dementia care settings. Course content builds on the student's knowledge of the aging process by the study of dynamics, etiology, and treatment of the rapidly growing aging population. Emphasis is placed on assisting client adaptation to normal age-related changes and chronic aging conditions as well as healthy/robust aging practices. Course content includes geriatric nursing, management of chronic illness, and healthy aging. The nursing process is utilized to assist the student in the planning of goal directed care for this client population.

II. OBJECTIVES

VI. EXAMPLES OF ASSIGNMENTS

- A. Reading Assignments
 1. Read chapters in the geriatric nursing text and community based nursing text that focus on culture, family care, and levels of prevention. Answer an instructor generated set of objectives. Come to class prepared to discuss the objectives.
 2. Read and summarize the article "Pain Assessment and Management in Persons with Dementia" by A.L. Horgas & L. Miller. Submit a paper at least five paragraphs long demonstrating comprehension of the information.
- B. Writing Assignments
 1. Analyze the article "The Way We Age Now" by A. Gawande. Summarize the article focusing on how medicine has increased the ranks of the elderly.
 2. Given a set of death and dying case studies share your thoughts and feelings with four class mates. Each student will write a one page paper with their thoughts and feelings. Review each of these papers and make a 3 paragraph written response. Evaluation will focus on relationship of the initial paper and the responses to material presented in class.
- C. Out-of-Class Assignments
 1. From a list of community resources provided by the instructor, visit and write up a description of the community resource site. An interview of an administrator, reimbursements, and the population served must be identified by the student in a three page writing paper.
 2. Write a two-page description of a "perfect" hospital environment to meet the needs of a patient with Alzheimer's disease. Use readings and observation of the hospital environment for background information.
